

Cultural Pluralism Audit

Use the tool below to reflect on the diversity in your learning environment by listing examples and where they are found for each of the row indicators. Then, consider the strategies from the Cultural Pluralism video, and listed below, that will leverage the identities of your learners. Which strategies will you try to increase diversity and promote better learning outcomes for your students?

This audit has been modified from Learning for Justice to reflect the nuances of remote learning. Use it to list examples and where they are found.

Row indicators	Physical Classroom	Remote Learning Environment	Reflections/Wonderings
Different Races
Different Genders
Different Languages in Learning Environment
Different Languages at Home
Different Abilities (wheelchair, glasses, etc.)
Different Religions
Different Family Structure
Different Ages
Different Learning Styles (visual, auditory, kinesthetic)
Different At-Home Learning Spaces
Different Technology and/or Network Access

Cultural Pluralism Audit

Consider the strategies below. Based on the diverse makeup of your learning environment, which would support your learners the most?

- Use of online translators
- Establishing norms and protocols for online and in-person discussions
- Collaborative and/or high-interest projects based on student experiences and backgrounds
- Virtual field trips to celebrations and culturally significant events
- Frequent opportunities for reflection
- Diverse representation in student materials and activities

Brainstorm next steps to incorporate strategies that will support cultural pluralism and diversity in your learning environment. Set a date to return to your learning environment audit and reflect on whether any of your reflections or wonderings have been affirmed or shifted.